

Drama Queens

CHARACTERS:

DONALD- mid 30's, gay, a dancer who's getting too old for the chorus boy routine. A little resentful towards the younger cast and his little drug habit brings out the wickedness in him. His humor is dry but stings with painful truth.

T.J. – early 30's, gay, a loud and vibrant dancer who loves the young boys and a dish of gossip. He and Donald are very close friends and love to play the bitchy camaraderie with each other.

JOHNNY- 18, straight, a dancer, the new kid on the block. An unfocused ball of dim-witted energy but with a friendly heart.

GUY – Mid 20's, a singer with a well-built body. He's very quiet and keeps to himself.

SCOTT- Late 20's, straight, a dancer with a good ole' southern boy charm. Enjoys his job and people.

MIKE- late 30's, gay, an opera singer with the fire-cracking wit of Bea Arthur. He's a diva who's a bit overweight and loves to bitch about it.

KYLE- late 20's, straight, a triple threat (can sing, dance and act) with an ego the size of Jupiter and a "high maintenance" spastic.

DRESSER- Mid 20's, gay, the men's dresser. A quirky actor wannabe Trying to always please.
